Over 1200 types of Japanese candies and candy-store toys that will excite children and bring back memories to grown-ups are available for orders online to be sent anywhere worldwide.

Example in use: Introducing Japanese culture at a cultural festival (USA)

A Japanese students' group opened a candy stall to introduce Japanese culture at a cultural festival at a university on the west coast of the USA. Inokuchi's Store took an online order for Japanese candies and candy-shop toys and sent them off quickly.

Japanese students in Japanese clothes sold pachinko gum that spits out round pieces of gum when you press a button, pinwheels, sauce-flavored rice crackers, chocobats, candied plums and many other candies.

"This was a great success in cultural exchange, letting people try out the unusual taste of Japanese downtown culture, all at a low budget!"
So stated the leader of the students' group.
